

Divine Didactics in Greek

πνευματικοῖς masculine plural of (pneumatikoís) Spiritual Phenomena: the inventory of truth. In Bibliology called Revelation.	πνευματικά neuter plural of (pneumatiká): Spiritual Systems: Grace Apparatus for Perception or Operation Z	συγκρίνω (sunkrínō) Illumination: Believers, guided by the Holy Spirit, are enabled to understand and retain Bible doctrines.	Bibliology: The System of Divine Didactics: Revelation, Inspiration, Interpretation, Communication, Illumination Animation
REVELATION God's direct divine influence communicated truth to the minds of biblical writers.	INTERPRETATION Pastors, guided by the Holy Spirit, discern through hermeneutics the meaning of Scripture.	πνευματικῶς (pneumatikós): Spirituality: The status quo of the believer post rebound.
INSPIRATION Direct divine influence insured their accurate transfer of truth into written languages.	COMMUNICATION Verbal conveyance of biblical doctrines to their assigned congregations.	πνευματικός (pneumatikós) ILLUMINATION: Believers, guided by the Holy Spirit, are enabled to spiritually discern & retain Bible doctrines.	ANIMATION Believers, enabled by the Holy Spirit, apply resident doctrines to life and circumstances. This is the end result of the several categories of Divine Didactics.

Adapted from: Lewis Sperry Chafer, Systematic Theology (Dallas: Dallas Seminary Press, 1947), 1:48–88; 105–123.

Joe Griffin Media Ministries.